Denver's Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery Completes Over 420 DIEP Flap Procedures

Renowned Plastic surgery office, Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery has recently announced they have completed over 420 DIEP Flap Procedures

DENVER CO, September 19, 2014 – Denver board-certified breast reconstruction surgeons Dr. Christopher Williams and Dr. Jeremy Williams are proud to announce their office has recently completed over 420 DIEP Flap Procedures. Both Dr. Jeremy Williams and Dr. Christopher Williams offer the full spectrum of breast reconstruction options at Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery located in Denver Colorado.

Dr. Jeremy Williams and Dr. Christopher Williams were two of the first breast reconstruction surgeons to offer the DIEP Flap Procedure in the entire Rocky Mountain Region. During the DIEP procedure, deep inferior epigastric perforators (DIEP), skin and fat are disconnected from the abdomen and transferred to reconstruct the chest – maintaining the abdominal muscles.

“We are thrilled with the number of patients we have been able to help with the DIEP Flap breast reconstruction procedure,” said Denver breast surgeon Dr. Christopher Williams. “By using the DIEP Flap procedure, we are able to spare muscles and limit damages to abdominal donor sites.”

Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery is well known in the Rocky Mountain region for its expertise utilizing DIEP Flap breast reconstruction. Dr. Jeremy Williams and Dr. Christopher Williams are known in Denver as pioneers and leaders in the DIEP Flap breast reconstruction.

Dr. Jeremy Williams states that “Breast reconstruction is truly our passion here at Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery. Our ultimate desire is to educate women about their choices after a mastectomy and allow them to make the choice that best fits their lifestyle.”
